

ALLIED FORCES STILL ADVANCE

Encounter No Serious Opposition on the Road to Capital.

MASSACRE NEAR PEKIN

Reported Slaughter of 10,000 Native Christians by Chinese Imperial Troops.

ESCAPE OF SEVEN AMERICANS

Washington, Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram]—Consul Goodnow at Shanghai cables today: "The Americans left Chun King yesterday. Li told the French consul today that no messages would be delivered to the ministers because the foreigners were advancing on Peking."

"Two pro foreign members of the Tsung Li Yamen were beheaded on July 27, for urging the preservation of the ministers by Li King Hung, now commanding the troops at Peking. He ordered the Pao Ting massacre."

Consul Fowler at Che Foo, cables: "Just received a telegram from the governor of Sha Tung requesting me to transmit the following: 'Have just received a note dated July 30, from the Tsung Li Yamen, stating that the various ministers in the German legation and others (foreigners) are all well and not in distress. Provisions were repeatedly sent. The relations are most friendly, and we are now conferring on measures to protect the various ministers to Tien Tsin for temporary shelter, which conference will soon be ended. Yuan, Governor.'"

Shanghai, Aug. 3.—[Special Cablegram]—It is reported that the allies are still advancing on Peking without encountering any serious opposition.

Congress Message Was Genuine. Washington, Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram]—Consul Fowler wires from Chefoo Aug. 2 that when it was found that doubt was cast on the genuineness of the Congress message he wired the governor of Shantung to send the original which he did by courier in five days. It is signed by Conger and dated July 18, precisely the same as that received by the state department with several words prefixed which came in unintelligible form to the Chinese legation here.

Enemy Is Entrenched. Remay cables from Taku, Aug. 2: "Chaffee reports eight hundred Japanese scouting towards Pei Tang, who lost three killed and twenty-five injured. The enemy is in trenches and in loop hold houses."

Americans Escape From Peking. London, Aug. 3.—[Special Cablegram]—A dispatch from Troitzkosavsk, Southern Siberia, says that seven American missionaries with their families have arrived here. They escaped from Peking before the siege and were chased by the Chinese across the great Gobi desert, four hundred miles. They suffered terrible privations until a force of Cossacks sent out by the Russian government finally came up with the missionaries and rescued them.

Cabinet Has No New Light. Washington, Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram]—The cabinet devoted another session to the Chinese situation today but had no new light to throw on the dark places. Hay said after the meeting thus far no proof had been brought forward that the Chinese government troops were attacking the legations. The president will return to Canton this evening.

WAR AGAINST CHINA IS CERTAIN

Imperial Government Has Violated All Peace Provisions. Washington, D. C., August 3.—War against China by the United States and the European powers is inevitable if there is confirmation of the news to the effect that the imperial troops participated in the attacks on the legations, and that the Chinese Generals Tung Fuh and Lung Lu were commended in an imperial edict for their gallantry.

There will be no formal declaration of war, as this would necessitate calling an extra session of congress, but the American troops and those of the other nations will go direct to Peking.

That this government has grown tired of Chinese duplicity is clearly shown by the vigorous note of Secretary Hay, who has demanded an absolute right and not as a favor, that Minister Conger be put in communication with his government.

ambassador that the imperial troops took part in the attack.

Empress Backs Boxers.

It is now known that the attack upon the legations was organized by the government and persevered in until Tien Tsin was captured, and that the imperial soldiers, instead of protecting the foreigners, have treacherously assailed them.

Chinese mendacity has overshot the mark. It has convinced well-informed men here that the Boxer movement has been transformed into an official agency, and that there has been no attempt on the part of the empress to intervene on behalf of the foreigners.

The public opinion has been stiffened by the evidence that the Chinese camorra is seeking to make use of the foreigners as hostages and to dictate terms of settlement with its hands on the throats of the women and children, and there is a tone of inflexible determination in the newspaper leaders and the declaration of members of parliament that the legations must first be rescued and then there will be time for talking about financial indemnities and a modus vivendi with Europe, America and Japan.

Nation's Policy Stated.

This is the burden of every dispatch which comes from continental capitals. Mr. Broderick's speech in the house of commons yesterday was the most definite explanation of the British policy yet offered from the foreign office. An other brigade has been ordered from India, and Shanghai will be adequately protected. The rescue of the legations will be the first and most urgent work undertaken in connection with the powers.

When that object has been accomplished the maintenance of the integrity of China will be the objective point of British diplomacy, and nothing will be done to precipitate the partition of the empire.

Mr. Broderick does not explain what measures will be adopted to bring about the retirement of the Russians and Japanese when Peking has been occupied.

CHRISTIAN TOWN IS WIPED OUT

Ten Thousand Native Converts and Five Catholic Priests Slain.

Teintsin, Aug. 3.—The Russian advance guard has routed 10,000 Chinese ten miles from Teintsin and took ten forts.

10,000 Christians Slain.

Chefoo, Aug. 3.—The imperial troops, Chefoo, Aug. 4.—The imperial troops, advancing to oppose the relief force, have completely wiped out a Christian town near Peking, killing five foreign priests and 10,000 native Christians.

Gen. Gaselee, it is said, strongly opposed the immediate advances, but he was overruled by the other commanders and influenced by the order from Washington to Gen. Chaffee to "proceed without an instant's delay."

A Shanghai dispatch announces the receipt of an official telegram from the Tsung Li Yamen, asserting that the ministers were all well on July 30, and that vegetables, fruits and other supplies had been sent to the legations on several occasions.

"Friendly intercourse," the official telegram says, "is now being carried on between the ministers and the imperial government."

No word comes regarding the fortunes of the comparatively small body of troops believed to be forging their way toward Peking. The silence is probably due to diligent censorship rather than to any lack of developments.

TALK WITH LI HUNG CHANG.

Interviewed by the Correspondent of a Chicago Paper.

Shanghai, Aug. 3.—J. C. Hemment, the Chicago American's correspondent, visited Li Hung Chang today to arrange for taking a number of photographs. After the sitting Earl Li invited Hemment to tea, during which the following questions were asked and answered:

Q.—At whose request did you leave Canton?

A.—The emperor's.

Q.—Do you apprehend any danger to the ministers from Tung Fuh Shang's troops when the allies approach Peking?

A.—There is something in this. It is better that the allied troops do not attempt to enter Peking at present.

Q.—Have you memorialized the throne that you would be unsuccessful as a peacemaker unless steps were taken to suppress the Boxers, etc.?

A.—Yes, and I intend standing by my original orders to act as peacemaker.

Q.—When do you hope to open negotiations?

A.—I cannot say; I hope it will be very shortly.

Q.—How long do you expect to remain here?

A.—I cannot decide yet. I hope to leave for the north as soon as possible.

Li Hung Chang expressed the opinion that the lives of the ministers and the Americans in Peking were safe and that there was no need for a continuance of the American expedition to North China, which discontinuance will not only be economical, but will "save the expedition unnecessary hardships and sufferings and loss of lives in the poor and devastated districts."

The contract for remodeling the Albany, Wis., school building was awarded to Alfred Summers of this city.

PAYNE HAS NO FEAR OF GOLD DEMOCRATS

RANK AND FILE OF THEM WILL VOTE FOR M'KINLEY.

Populists in Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas and Minnesota Who Voted for Bryan Four Years Ago, Have Again Become Republicans—Old Bennett Law Issue Dead.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Speaking of the claims of the democrats that they would have most of the gold democrats of 1896 back with them this year, Vice Chairman Payne of the republican national committee said:

"That is true of a number of the leaders who want to get back into control of the party organization and think this is a good time to do it. They figure that Bryan is going to be defeated and then, four years hence, they will come to power again. The rank and file of the gold democrats will, however, never vote for Bryan, and those who voted for Palmer and Buckner in 1896 will vote for McKinley and Roosevelt this year."

"On the other hand, we will make gains which will more than offset any gold democrats who may go to Bryan. In Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas and Minnesota the former republicans that joined the populists and voted for Bryan four years ago are many of them returning to the republican party. They believed then that the failure of free silver and the maintenance of the gold standard meant the destruction of the country. Experience has shown them it meant increased prosperity. They have found themselves mistaken and naturally are coming back to the party to which they originally belonged."

"Then in the further western states many free silver republicans are in the same condition. I have assurances from such former prominent free silver republicans as Tom Kerens, Pat Lannon and Saulsbury of Salt Lake City that not only they, but thousands of others like them, will be back in the party this year. They have found that even Utah, Colorado and neighboring states are sharing the general prosperity which resulted from the defeat of free silver four years ago."

"Being asked about the claim of Mayor Rose of Milwaukee that the old Bennett law would be a feature of the campaign in Wisconsin this year to the detriment of the republicans, Mr. Payne laughed and said: 'That issue died several years ago, and both parties united to give it a decent burial.'"

VILLAGE OF MONICO DESTROYED BY FIRE

Business Portion of the Little Wisconsin Town Wiped Out By Flames—People Homeless.

Monico, Wis., Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram]—Fire completely destroyed the business portion of Monico this morning. The fire burned fiercely and it was only after hours of fighting that the people got the flames under control.

Several houses were destroyed and the people rendered destitute and homeless. The fire is supposed to have been started by a tramp in the barn.

The Monico house valued $6,000 was totally destroyed. The other losses were one large store building $2,000, delivery barn and team of horses $2,000, and private property $4,000. The farm machinery and grain stored was valued at $5,000.

COLORED MAN WILL LOSE HIS VOTE

Red Shirt Democrats Carried the Election in North Carolina by Over 50,000 Majority.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 3.—After one of the most bitterly contested campaigns ever known in the old North state the democrats and white supremacy triumphed yesterday by a majority of from 30,000 to 50,000.

Yesterday's election disfranchised the negro and changed the state legislature from its combination majority of republicans and populists to straight democratic, insuring the defeat of Marion Butler for reelection for United States senator. The negroes as a general thing remained away from the polls.

The entire democratic ticket headed by Charles E. Aycock for governor, is elected. The legislature is democratic in both branches. Mecklenburg county of which Charlotte is the county seat, gave 3,500 majority for the county ticket.

Every eastern county and most of the central counties were carried by the democrats. Returns from the west are incomplete.

At 11 o'clock this morning democratic Chairman Simmond said: "I think we have a safe majority of 50,000 and at least four fifths of the legislature. The returns so far are most satisfactory."

BERTIE ANSFELD, the 11 year old son of Mrs. Ansfield of 408 South Franklin street, fell over backwards onto a rake he was using to rake the lawn with. Four teeth penetrated his hips, making some rather sore cuts. Dr. Chittenden attended the little fellow and dressed the wounds.

HARMONY REIGNS IN REPUBLICAN RANKS

NO CONTEST IN STATE CONVENTION AT MILWAUKEE.

Leander Ferguson of Brandon, Withdraws as a Candidate for State Treasurer—The Old State Ticket Below Governor Will Be Endorsed by Acclamation.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 3.—The republican state convention will be held in the Exposition building in this city next Wednesday, for the purpose of nominating Robert M. La Follette of Madison, for governor, and endorsing the rest of the ticket by renominating it without a contest.

The convention will be in the nature of a ratification meeting, for there is but one ticket in the field, the last candidate not on the regular state having announced that he was out of the race.

Leander Ferguson, the Brandon veterinarian, some time ago said he was a candidate for the office of treasurer at the particular request of the old soldiers. In his communication Mr. Ferguson says:

"It now appears certain that the Hon. B. M. La Follette will be nominated by acclamation for governor at the state convention on August 8, and as I am the only speck on the political horizon that would in any sense interfere with the nomination of the rest of the state ticket by the same means, I withdraw my name from consideration as a candidate for state treasurer."

"In doing this I desire to say that I did not announce myself as a candidate until a strong pressure had been brought to bear by the soldier element of the state, and while I am firmly convinced that this element has at least as good a claim to representation on the ticket as the different nationalities to secure their votes—still, according to precedent, these men who have served but one term and have done their work well, are entitled to a second term."

"Taking this view of the case, and as a republican desiring the most complete harmony, I take this step, thanking those who have promised me their support."

Thus is removed the very last straw in the way of harmony so far as the state ticket is concerned. The work of the convention will be done without a hitch, although there may be an adjournment after a brief session on the 8th to the next morning, so all the friends of La Follette who lay claim to eloquent powers may have a chance to second his nomination in flowery speech.

Few democrats who have been viewing the harmony program claim they will be able to carry the state although ex-Governor Peck, who is democratic chairman, believes there is such a chance. Most of the democrats are satisfied by listening to their "claim agents" who profess to be able to cut the republican majority of 100,000 to 30,000 or 40,000.

MOSQUITOES HAVE BECOME A SCOURGE

The Pests So Thick in South Dakota That the Subject Is No Longer Considered a Joke.

Yankton, S. D., Aug. 3.—Yankton is being visited by a scourge of mosquitoes. Over thirteen inches of rain during the month of July has filled all the lake beds to overflowing, and all the low ground has been converted into swamps.

Stagnant water and cloudy weather has been ideal for breeding and the resultant insect must be the admiration of his kind, as he is the terror of man and beast. All southeastern South Dakota is infested, and the plague is much more than a joke. During the heat of the day they shun the open sun, shine and seek the close shade and grass where the incautious stir them up in clouds.

In the evening they come forth vigorous and savagely hungry and take full possession of the entire land. In livery barns all doors and windows have to be kept closed and no lights used. "Bus and hack drivers have smudges at their stands to keep their horses from running away to escape their insects. No relief is expected until dry weather and heat kill off the vermin."

SURRENDER OF 750 MORE BOERS

British Under Smith-Dorrien Repel An Attack—Ian Hamilton's Force Encounter Opposition.

London, Aug. 3.—[Special Cablegram]—Gen. Hunter reports the surrender of seven hundred and fifty more Boers. Gen. Roberts reports that Commandant Lieberg demanded the surrender of Smith Dorrien at Fridericksdadt. The British commander refusing the Boers attacked, but were easily repulsed. The British losses were two killed and seven wounded. Ian Hamilton proceeding to the relief of Baden-Powell at Rustenburg was slightly opposed, one killed and five wounded.

W. T. Pratt and family have moved into the new home lately purchased by them on Park avenue.

PICKERS FLEE FROM VERMIN

Pea Lice Drive Help From the Fields at Manitowoc.

Manitowoc, Wis., August 3.—The peas completely vanquished an army of 1,000 pickers on the south side and drove them from the fields. The loss is increasing in numbers and the pickers are unable to work in the fields where the lice are on the vines. The pickers left the field with their clothes covered with the vermin. They were on the vines in such large numbers that they crawled on the clothing of the pickers and then down their necks. The peas were also of such an inferior quantity in the fields that the pickers were unable to make wages.

NEGRO DICK COMBS REFUSED TO DO IT

Says He Was Offered $1,200 to Shoot Governor Goebel—His Statement Is Not Credited.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram]—"Tallow Dick" Combs, the negro accused of having fired the shot which killed Goebel, has confessed to all he knew of the crime, alleging he was offered twelve hundred dollars to do the shooting, but refused.

The Combs confession cannot be brought into evidence in the Powers trial. The attorneys for the defense do not credit it.

Former Auditor Stone took the stand this morning and stated that W. H. Culton, a clerk in his office was discharged because he stole a thousand dollars. The prosecution objected and the court took it under consideration.

Jim Harklerad of Barbourville, a barber, testified that Wharton Golden, displaying a big roll of bills said to his brother, "You know there is a one hundred thousand dollar reward afloat and I've been into that."

PROFESSOR EMERSON IS DYING

Noted Greek Scholar and Veteran Beloit College Instructor.

Beloit, Wis., Aug. 3.—Prof. Joseph Emerson, the veteran Greek scholar and professor of that language at Beloit College is dying. He has been suffering from general debility for a long time and his life may end at any time. He celebrated his fifty-second anniversary with the college on May 25 last.

MONARCHY OF ITALY TOTTERING

All Look to Queen Helena to Save the Savoy Dynasty.

Milan, Aug. 3.—Italy is on the eve of a revolution. One person alone can save the monarchy. King Victor is a nonentity, mentally and physically. The ministry is weak and vacillating. It is a compromise, or stop gap, ministry, and contains scarcely one strong man. The Royalist party, while perhaps in a majority, is disorganized. Its opponents, the Republicans, Socialists and Clericals, are splendidly organized and led by astute statesmen.

The opportunity to overturn the monarchy and establish a republic is too good a one to be lost. The Clericals seem to support such a revolution, the price of their aid being the restoration to the Pope of his temporal sovereignty over the city of Rome.

It is, therefore, a situation of the gravest peril.

But there is one to whom the Royalists look to save Italy. This is the Queen Helena.

She is strong, courageous and beautiful. Her life among the hills of her Montenegrin home, spearing the bear, chasing the stag, scaling dizzy heights in the hunt of the chamois, has made her fearless, tempered her nerves and hardened her muscles. Her long visits to the Court of St. Petersburg have taught her statecraft and given her a knowledge of diplomacy. And she has been long enough in Rome to know the highways and byways of Italian politics.

If any one can save Italy from a revolution it is she. With her fair hand upon the helm the ship of state may sail securely.

REDS ORDERED TO KILL ALL KINGS

Twenty Seven Anarchists Sailed from New York Bound for Europe.

MAP OUT BLOODY WORK

Assassin Bresci Says That Czar of Russia Will Be the Next Victim.

ALL EUROPE NOW AROUSED

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram]—The secret service men employed by the Italian government it is claimed, have discovered that twenty-seven anarchists sailed from this port within the last few weeks bound for France and Italy and the agents believe the reds have been ordered to destroy all the monarchs of Europe.

At a mass meeting at the Bartholdi hall, Paterson, last night, Pedro Estey, editor of the anarchist publication, one of the speakers, declared that Bresci had killed the king of his own free will but no one would cry.

Shah Thinks Him Mad

Paris, Aug. 3.—[Special Cablegram]—An examination of the man who attacked the Shah yesterday developed that his name was Slason, an anarchist who disappeared from Paris in 1895. It is reported that Slason has been associated with the Spanish anarchist group. Deputy procurator Rembaud believes that there is a wide spread anarchist plot. The Shah says that his assailant was a madman and attaches no importance to the affair.

Bresci Says Czar Next.

Rome, Aug. 3.—The regicide Bresci still maintains his excited demeanor and has to be dressed forcibly. Today he exclaimed to the warden:

"It will be the czar's turn next."

Bresci has been removed from Monza to Milan.

The police have found evidence that Bresci acted in collusion with others and numerous arrests have been made. Bresci's brother, a shoe dealer, another kinsman named Marozza and several anarchists have been arrested at Prato. Natal Possanzini, who was arrested at Ancona, admits traveling with Bresci from Milan to Monza.

Discovers By the Police.

According to declarations made to the Milan police by persons who witnessed the assassination of King Humbert, and especially the king's footman, four or five persons, wearing around their necks black handkerchiefs such as Bresci wore, were seen around the royal carriage at the time of the crowd. After it was committed they began shouting, evidently to increase the confusion and to help Bresci to escape.

Il Corriere della Italia says the police have discovered that a huge plot was formed in America to murder King Humbert, and that his assassination was to be followed by similar crimes throughout Europe.

Tracing Movements of Bresci.

Another discovery is that Bresci, last Sunday, entered the royal chapel of the villa during mass evidently with the intention of assassinating Humbert if he were there.

A man suspected of being an accomplice of Bresci was arrested yesterday at a railway station. He had recently arrived from the United States and will be sent to Monza for inspection.

Notwithstanding the most thorough search, the will of King Humbert has not yet been found. Count Brambilla has arrived in Rome to continue the search, which is retarding the arrangements for the funeral.

BRESCHI'S WIFE A TENNESSEAN.

Daughter of a Confederate Officer and Driven from Home by a Scandal.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 3.—A story comes from Shelbyville that the wife of Bresci, the anarchist who assassinated King Humbert of Italy, formerly resided there. Her maiden name was Wilson and she descends from one of the foremost and most prominent families of the state. In her girlhood she was a belle of great beauty and brightness. But she was one of the central figures in a great scandal at Shelbyville a few years ago and went to New York city.

Reduced to penury, she secured employment in the same factory in which the murderer of Humbert was a weaver, and the two became man and wife. This is the story of a large number of people familiar with the career of the woman after she left Shelbyville and Bedford county. She was born to a proud name and was the daughter of a distinguished confederate officer, now dead.

Baltimore, Md., August 3.—[Special Telegram]—Amos B. Smith was hanged this morning in jail for the murder of Sadie Jones last December. Jealousy was the cause.

CAPE NOME'S CONDITION

Interesting Facts About the New Goldfield.

MANY FINE BUILDINGS PROJECTED

Cost of Structures Now Being Erected Estimated at Over $1,000,000 For the Season—Crude Habitations of the First Comers—Chances in Gold Digging.

"In some ways Nome is a wonderful city," said Mrs. Kate Colla, who recently returned from a nine months' visit to her husband at Cape Nome, to the New York Sun reporter at Pomona, Cal. "A year ago last month (June) it had a population of less than 300. It has over 20,000 now. Building lots close to the seashore were free at that time, and now they are selling for $4,000 and $5,000 each. Nome will be a permanent city of 30,000 or 40,000 people in two years more, because it is the headquarters of the richest gold region ever known on this continent. It is not in the world, and because it is so easy of access compared with other Alaskan goldfields. A person can leave Seattle, spend a week at Nome and be back at Seattle in five weeks, with no discomfort except from seasickness. Mining machinery, lumber and fuel can be shipped easily to Nome and when the pier or mole has been built at Nome it will be easy to discharge cargoes. The city has now an electric lighting system, and it will have sewerage before the season of navigation closes. It is growing faster and far more substantially than Dawson did. A hotel of bricks, with plate glass windows and iron uprights, is in course of erection at Nome at an expense of $200,000. It has already leased the barroom privilege for ten years at $12,000 a year. A syndicate of San Franciscans has already sent thousands of dollars' worth of building material up the coast to Nome for a fine two story business block and lodging house to cost upward of $250,000. The trading and transportation companies that do business at Nome have a small army of workmen busy now in erecting mammoth fireproof warehouses at Nome, so there may never be danger of a shortage in merchandise in the district during a winter's isolation from the rest of the world. Lucky Baldwin and a company of San Francisco men will build a theater and dance hall combined at Nome this season. When I sailed from there last month the lighterage companies were working day and night in handling hundreds of tons of Baldwin's theater equipment on the beach. Some Denver people will erect a fine bank at Nome as soon as possible, and a Seattle bank will establish a national bank there also. The Rev. Matt Anderson, who was one of the first seven white men who got gold on Cape Nome, has given $50,000 from the several hundred thousand dollars he has got during a year and a half of mining in the district as the nucleus of a fund for a Lutheran church at Nome. I believe it is the intention to put $50,000 into the structure. Altogether, I believe it is fair to say that the building now going forward at Nome amounts to over $1,000,000 for the season. Lots of $7,000 and $8,000 store buildings had been started before I came away from Nome. Think of that for a community only 18 months old and situated on a desolate, barren shore of an arctic sea!

"The first things the newcomers to Nome see as they approach the shore are the rows of miserable, battered huts built of sea driftwood, straggling up and down the curving beach. Very few of them are as large as 12 by 12 feet. There are over 800 of them reaching northward from Cripple river for nine miles. They were built by the first comers to Nome, and they are the crudest, toughest habitations I have ever known white folks to live in. Logs, broken spars, battered planks and sticks, washed up by the sea, are the chief building materials in these abodes. Weather beaten canvas, pieces of old sails and tents, bits of tin, rags and overalls have been fastened on the outside of the logs and planks to keep out the cold air. Here and there are huts of driftwood, battened with mud. The floors within are of hard earth, and the only door in each hut is of rough sawed boards held in place by pegs. In some huts there are no stoves and meals are cooked and the hut is heated by a fire on the mud floor between bricks and stones. In most of these primitive homes boxes and barrels are used for tables and parities and the men there sleep in a roll of blankets and skins on the floor. Yet some of these huts are the domiciles of miners who came to Nome some 18 or 20 months ago with only $100 or $200 as their sole capital and who are now worth $40,000 and even $100,000. I went to see a sick Norwegian in one of the most squalid of the huts last winter, and he drew from under his pile of blankets, so dirty that I could hardly tell the original colors, a lot of tin tomato and fruit cans in which he kept over $30,000 worth of gold dust.

"Most of the houses at Nome are of canvas walls and roofs. Earth is heaped up about the sides. Water is thrown over the house when the weather is cold, and thus a coat of ice forms that makes the abode impervious to freezing blasts. Up to this season the best buildings at Nome were constructed of rough sawed pine timber and boards. The largest buildings were the general merchandise stores of the trading and transportation companies, but the saloons, gambling places and dance halls were the finest and most inviting structures.

"One should go to Nome to know what a restless, eager and scheming people really are. Every one but the natives is there solely to get gold, the miners to get it from the earth and an army of men and women to get it from the miners. No one but the natives has the least idea of remaining on Cape Nome longer than to get all the wealth that he can conveniently accumulate. The all absorbing topic of conversation there is gold, and how one may get it quickest. Promoters? Why, the little city is full of the slickest promoters ever known. There are companies of men and women at Nome solely to coax gold by any sort of scheme from the board of the simple old fellows who have at last struck it rich in Nome's sands and gulches. I don't suppose there ever were any foxier gamblers than those at Nome. All kinds of gambling games are played there. The faro and roulette games are always open. One faro game is said to have a bank roll of 400 pounds of gold, worth about $105,000. Several roulette games are backed by $25,000 or $40,000 in the yellow metal. I have heard of fool miners there toying with the fickle goddess Fortune for 30 hours at a time and then quitting the game without an ounce of the gold dust they spent weeks of hard labor and grim privations in getting together. But there's no fool of the variety that a majority of the gold and silver miners are."

"Do men who go to Nome now have much chance of finding profitable gold digging?"

"That's the great mooted question at Nome. I have heard it argued pro and con time and again. My individual opinion is that the chances are against newcomers finding gravelly benches on the beach where golden particles have been deposited plentiful enough to make mining very profitable. The character of the Nome district is so different from that of any other placer region of the world that no one, not even the best of the government geological experts, can give more than vague guesses. The men who are putting fortunes into permanent improvements on the desolate shores at Nome are principally rich and experienced miners, and they seem to be proving their faith in the future of Cape Nome by their works."

FOR WELDING PIPES.

Description of a New German Process.

According to Consul General Guenther of Frankfurt, at the congress of the Saxon Associations of Engineers and Architects just held at Leipzig, Mr. Max Schiemann of Dresden delivered a lecture, accompanied by experiments, on the "Goldschmidt Process for Obtaining High Temperatures and Its Practical Application." He compared this new process with those hitherto used for heating metals for welding. He showed by experiments the new method of welding cast iron gas pipes of two to four inches in diameter and demonstrated the very simple application of the process and its results, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Post. Briefly stated, it consists in mixing powdered aluminium with oxide of iron and adding to it an easily ignitable substance.

This powder is put into a clay crucible and then ignited by means of a match. The resulting chemical action renders the mixture liquid, and this liquid is then poured around the place to be welded. The object assumes a white heat, and the welding is done by a very simple apparatus. The welded places show the same firmness as the original piece, and manifold application of the method is possible. In the near future it is proposed to weld the rails of the electric tramway at Dresden, which has already been done in other cities. The speaker welded rails before the audience, and the experiments were pronounced very successful, especially on account of the simplicity of the process. It is considered a very important discovery, and great hopes are entertained for it.

Will Vaccinate Lobsters.

An enterprising pisciculturist has invented a lymph with which he proposes to vaccinate young lobsters to protect them against a growth which is fatal to little crustaceans, says the London Leader. The vaccinated lobster will have a peculiar scar at the base of its tail to distinguish him from his unvaccinated brethren.

The Peace Conference.

A year ago or less, perhaps, we thought we'd seen the last of scraps. Or that at least war soon would cease. For all the world was talking peace. The nations to the Hague had sent their delegates, wise men, intent on making plans so each dispute would not call armies out to shoot.

The conference to thus end war was fathered by the famous czar, and at his invitation men poured in to stop war there and then. For weeks they talked, for months they planned, and then war was told in every land that there was cause to jubilate. For all disputes they'd arbitrate.

But ere the ink had fairly dried on plans that they had ratified. The mutterings of war arose, and there was gathering of foes. The czar increased his armaments. The Kaiser's war seal grew intense. In Britain's fleets new ships were lined, and France was not so far behind.

Soon near the southern Aric shores John Bull was grappling with the Bears; They fought o'er veils, they fought o'er hills, And, what is worse, they're fighting still. Our Uncle Sam was busy, too, In thrashing Argentina's crew, And, though in every fight he won, The battling there is not yet done.

The Chinese now are raising Cain— Though that it's war is not made plain— With Yankee, Briton, Frenchman, Jap, German and Russian in the scrap. They're fighting hard, that's not in doubt, To put the heathen Chinks to rout, And ere there's ending of that fray There'll be the very deuce to pay!

And here and there throughout the world The flags of war have been unfurled, With arms growing by degrees And navies prowling round the seas. Just when 'twill end 'tis hard to say, For things seem getting worse each day, And, strange enough, these rows immense Date back to that peace conference.

RENOMINATE SENATOR J. M. WHITEHEAD.

The convention to nominate a republican candidate for senator in the Twenty-second district has been called for September 5, at Milton Junction. Rock county, at this convention, will take pride in supporting the present incumbent, The Hon. John M. Whitehead of Janesville, whose splendid record is known not only to the people of this senatorial district, but to the whole state. The renomination of Senator Whitehead is therefore a foregone conclusion, and this fact is to the credit of all concerned. Men like Senator Whitehead are always appreciated by the people—and always appreciate the favors the people show them. Senator Whitehead has been weighed in the balance, and not found wanting, and in renominating him, the electors of the district will not only honor him, but the party, and themselves as well.

The caucuses in the cities and villages to elect delegates to the convention have not been called, but now that the convention date has been fixed, the call for the primaries will doubtless soon be issued.

All Rock county should turn out at the caucuses and give Senator Whitehead enthusiastic support. The primary meetings should be largely attended and a heavy vote cast in testimony of the worth of the man and sterling party principles that he represents.

Chairman Thomas S. Nolan and Secretary William A. Jackson of the republican county committee, were unanimously reelected to their respective positions by the county convention. This is as it should be. Messrs. Nolan and Jackson have labored unceasingly for the cause, and their work has borne fruit. The recognition given them is well deserved, and the party is to be congratulated upon their acceptance of the places offered them.

According to a Kentucky preacher the Goebel case is full of manufactured testimony. The preacher went on the stand and gave the facts in the case to "prevent an innocent man from being hanged." He said that certain witnesses had admitted that they were to be well paid if Secretary of State Powers was convicted.

The democrats are now casting about for a gubernatorial candidate. Why do not the Janesville workers present the name of the Hon. Cornelius Buckley, of Beloit?

A Milwaukee man owns a coal mine in the Klondike. Great Scott! What a cinch!

Order is being preserved at Canton,

China by the execution of 100 people per day. The executioners get their cue from Li Hung Chang.

Ex-Governor Waller of Connecticut, hasn't joined the Bryanites as yet. He says: "I am a democrat and a bolter still."

It was unnecessary for the Michigan man, who owns a beard 8 feet long, to announce that he would vote for Bryan.

Li Hung Chang appears to be pretty handy with the meat axe himself.

Wee is Wu.

Mammoth Structure Just Finished For the Bronx Park Zoo.

The zoological park at the Bronx has just completed the mammoth show place within its grounds, a mammoth flying cage for the animals, says the New York Journal. This structure, taking a half year's time to build and $8,000 in money, has been put up expressly for the purpose of giving spacious quarters for the large and showy water birds as well as affording an opportunity for studying their flight. It is the largest cage of its kind in the world. Nothing on so huge a scale has heretofore been attempted by any zoological institution.

The cage is constructed of steel pipe and wire netting and in shape is like a colossal Gothic arch. It is 150 feet long, 75 feet wide and 55 feet high. One of the unique and striking features of the structure is that it incloses three spreading forest trees whose foliage and branches form a delightful resting place for the birds. The airiness of this inclosure is also perfect, being situated in an open highway.

Encircling the ground of the cage is a stream of water sufficiently deep to afford good diving and swimming for the birds. Another new and artistic feature of the interior of the cage is the arrangement of the landscape background along the several sides to correspond with the original homes of the bird inmates.

The most typical of these is one representing a Florida coast scene, while the presence of a number of tall palm-trees lends it a touch of reality to the view. The plant and turf life in the inclosure is as yet in the initial stage, for it will require some time before everything is brought to the required stage of perfection.

There are at present some 25 specimens of fresh water and marine birds in the cage, numbering 80 different representatives. When the full quota has been installed, there will be nearly 300 swimming and flying birds in the interior, representing a complete collection of the principal water birds now in the cage, and there are several species of each: Herons, egrets, bitterns, cormorants, pelicans, flamingoes, geese, gulls, hawks, cranes, demioiselles, storks and ducks.

WALLACE SHOWS DRAW BIG CROWD

FINE PERFORMANCE TODAY—
ANOTHER TONIGHT.

Street Parade Was a Magnificent Display—Four Bands Enliven the Pageant—A Clean, Wideawake, Up-to-Date Show Enjoyed and Praised by All Present.

Two long trains bearing the great Wallace shows rumbled into town from Oshkosh and bumped and jolted into the railway yards, past dancing switch lights, sleepy switchmen and large delegations of small boys who had been shivering in the damp atmosphere for two hours awaiting the arrival of the train.

The big engines had scarcely been detached when out from under the big canvas covered wagons perched on the cars, rolled sleepy looking men, who after a hasty toilet proceeded to enter upon their different duties like so many trained soldiers. A switch engine shifted the cars to the side track suitable for unloading, and by seven o'clock the wagons tents and animals had been safely and expeditiously transferred to the show grounds on the Milton avenue side of the old fair grounds.

By nine o'clock the mammoth water proof canvas in which the big performances take place lifted its streamered roof high above the surrounding houses, flanked on every side by smaller tents, erected for amusement and practical purposes. During the accomplishment of labor necessary to install this canvas city there was no confusion. The 500 carefully drilled employees worked like one individual. The stake men did not lose a stroke in swinging their mauls, the canvas men lost no time in the unnecessary hitching of ropes, and the men entrusted with the erecting of the seats placed every board in position at the first throw.

It is certainly a fine day for a circus and the streets were jammed with people eager to see the parade. The big parade left the circus grounds after 10 o'clock and moved over the principal streets of the city. Circus parades partake of a sameness, but Mr. Wallace has introduced some novel and interesting features in this part of the show. The equipment and horses were in a high degree of perfection. Four bands enlivened the pageant. An open cage containing the blood sweating hippopotamus attracted attention, while the wary skinned elephants and double humped dromedaries treated with haughty indifference the bold stares of the crowd. The horses are clean, strong limbed animals of uniform size and color, and the harnesses and blinkers are of the latest and most improved type.

The afternoon performance commenced at 2 o'clock, and the attendance was very good. It kept the eye busy to follow the wealth of entertainment which almost bewildered the appreciative audience. The program, which was varied and new, consisted of many spectacular, startling and novel features that never have been seen before. It would be difficult to single out any special feature and say that it was best, for there were a number of high class acts that are right at the front of the procession in the exhibition world.

The Nelson family—nine in all—did marvelous and wonderful acrobatic acts that have never been approached here. The world renowned Stirk family, who do everything on a bicycle that is possible, were a revelation. The Nelsons and Stirks are composed of lady and gentlemen performers, including several little tots, whose skill and daring evoke the greatest enthusiasm.

Charles, the performing elephant, who possesses an extraordinarily long pair of tusks, did remarkable feats, and performed astounding feats in mid air, the sisters Maritz did novel and new acts of contortion and Mme. Nelson, with her remarkable collection of trained birds and dogs.

Mlle. Norada French defied the immutable laws of gravitation in making a wonderful ascent up a slender spiral wire enclosed in a rolling globe. This was one of the cleverest acts in the show and the young lady met with a hearty reception from the audience after the ascent when she stepped from the rolling ball. The bareback riding was good, and the clowns clever and humorous.

No mention of the circus would be complete without reference to the menagerie, which contains a large and varied assortment of rare and costly wild animals. The hippopotamus, which is the largest in captivity, the American lions, the beautiful pair of zebras, the Africa leopards, the yaks from Asia, the Royal Bengal tigers and the sable antelope were most admired. There is a large herd of camels and dromedaries, two very large and a number of small elephants, and very rare animals that attracted much attention.

In a word, the Wallace management caught Janesville on a meritorious, clean, up-to-date and complete exhibition, and to it and its superior attraction the latch string is always out.

There will be another performance this evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock and a great crowd is assured.

Janesville Men in the Show. Janesville is well represented in the Wallace Shows, a number of people who started in the circus business with the Burr Robbins Shows and who made Janesville their headquarters during the time the Robbins Shows were in winter quarters, are here today. Tom Pay, boss canvasman, "Scotty" the boss hostler, George Hines, manager of privileges, Will Hart and Bob Milford are all old Robbins men and some of them former residents of Janesville. The winter quarters of the Wallace Shows at Peru, Ind., are said to be the finest of any in the country. At that place they have machine shops, carpenter shops and a complete outfit for making all repairs and building all their own cages and wagons.

STRUCK SQUARE ON TOP OF HER HEAD

COLORED WOMAN LAUNCHED INTO AIR IN A RUNAWAY.

Flung as if Shot From a Catapult at Least Twenty Feet—After a Bit She Got Over Her Dazed Condition, and Seemed To Be None the Worse for the Move.

Mrs. Enoch Taylor, a colored woman, wife of Enoch Taylor, had a close call this morning while driving down East Milwaukee street. Mrs. Taylor was coming down the street driving a horse hitched to a canopy top surrey and had a small child with her. When in front of the Janesville Carriage works the circus procession came along and when the elephants arrived where she was the horse became frantic with fear and began to jump and plunge and started to run.

In trying to turn the corner onto North Bluff street the wheels of the surrey struck the apron which runs from the sidewalk over the gutter and overturned the surrey, throwing the woman and child to the ground and breaking the surrey badly. The horse was caught and held by some bystanders before he had gone far.

When the surrey struck the apron the shock threw Mrs. Taylor through the air, like she had been thrown from a spring board, and she went at least twenty feet before landing. She struck the ground squarely on top of her head and the bystanders thought her neck would be broken. She was picked up and carried to a bench near the Hotel London, where she soon regained her dazed senses and seemed none the worse for the fall.

One of her arms was slightly skinned and bruised and her back somewhat lame otherwise she appeared to be all right. She had a fortunate escape as a fall like the one she took would easily have killed her and that no bones were broken is still more singular.

Mooswa of the Boundaries.

The possibilities of the "animal story" are remarkably well shown by Mr. W. A. Fraser in his new tale entitled Mooswa of the Boundaries. These are stories of Red, the Boy, and the fur bearing animals of the Northwest and the half breed trappers who hunt them. Each of the tales teems with curious bits of wood lore and little known facts about the moose, beaver, bear, lynx, fox and wolf. Mr. Arthur Heming who has illustrated the stories, is a sportsman and naturalist as well as an artist. The first of the Mooswa stories will appear in the Saturday Evening Post of September 1.

TOBACCO CROP WAS NEVER BETTER

Topping Has Become General Now and Harvest of Early Fields Will Soon Begin.

In the line of cured goods the market is entirely barren of transactions worthy of note, says the Edgerton Tobacco Reporter. A little sampling of '99 packings is being done, more to test the condition of the tobacco, rather than placing the samples on the market. So far the percentage of damage found is not of a character to cause any uneasiness.

The weather of the week has been favorable for the growth of the new crop. So far the growing sections have escaped any damage from hail or storms and the crop never showed up finer at this date. Topping has become quite general now and the harvest of some of the early fields will begin soon.

The shipment out of a storage ko not exceed 4000s from this station to all points for the week past. Since last report 2250s of cigar leaf were exported for New York.

The Russian Navy.

It is impossible to state what naval force Russia could float should war break out with Japan. Great additions have lately been made to the Russian squadron in the Pacific and China seas, where Vladivostok and Port Arthur are the bases, and many more vessels could doubtless be added in an emergency. The latest estimate of the strength of the Russian navy including vessels built and building, is 294 vessels of 508,528 tons displacement, while the navy of Japan, built and building, is estimated at 132 vessels, of 264,435 tons displacement.

CHAS. F. P. PULLEN MAY BE CHAIRMAN

FORMER ROCK COUNTY MAN IS HONORED.

Milwaukee Will Unanimously Endorse Him, and It Is Therefore Figured That He Will Certainly Get the Place—Other Cream City Men Save Withdrawn.

A former Rock county man may direct the republican campaign in Wisconsin this year, in the person of Charles F. Pullen of Milwaukee. A dispatch says:

Milwaukee, Wis., August 3.—Charles F. Pullen of this city probably will be the next chairman of the Republican central committee, and he will certainly have the endorsement of the Milwaukee county delegation for the place. This was practically decided upon in an informal discussion of the situation by the LaFollette leaders here. This support will practically insure his election. Mr. Pullen is the president of the German-American bank in this city and has been active in the LaFollette movement, having been the president of the LaFollette campaign club for two years.

Milwaukee, it is stated, will unanimously endorse Mr. Pullen for chairman and make a determined effort to place him at the head of the committee which will conduct the next state campaign in Wisconsin. The unanimity of feeling has been brought about by the retirement of E. L. Philipp and Theodore Kronsage, both of Milwaukee, who until last evening were candidates for the chairmanship.

Friends of Mr. Pullen say that with the united support of the Milwaukee leaders, together with the assistance of many of the most prominent members of the party in various parts of the state, his selection is assured. A number of prominent men have been mentioned in connection with the chairmanship, among them Gen. George E. Bryant of Madison. It is stated that Gen. Bryant has withdrawn from the contest.

HAD AN ATTACK OF HEART FAILURE

Miss Nettie Shurden Prostrated while Coming Down Town To See the Circus Parade.

Miss Nettie Shurden, of 111 Caroline street, was taken with an attack of heart failure while on her way down town this morning to view the circus parade. Miss Shurden had reached East street, and was in front of Orion Sutherland's residence when taken. She sank down on the sidewalk; friends with her did all they could for her with the means at hand, and after considerable hard work, restored her to consciousness. A hack was called, and she was conveyed to her home. Dr. James Gibson was summoned, and pronounced it a severe attack. Miss Shurden soon rallied under the doctor's care, and no serious results are anticipated.

TRIES TO KILL THE SHAH.

Anarchist Attacks Persian Ruler in Paris.

THE MAN HAD A REVOLVER.

Sovereign Assaulted Before a Crowd While Driving—Would-Be Assassin Arrested—Police Held Off a Mob Which Cries for the Prisoner.

Paris, Aug. 3.—An attempt on the life of the shah of Persia, Muzaffer-ed-Din, was made here, but it resulted in no harm to his majesty. A man broke through a line of policemen at 9:15 o'clock as the shah emerged from the court of the sovereigns' palace and sprang upon the step of the carriage. The man was dressed as a laborer, and leaped from between two automobiles, where he had been hidden, overturning a bicycle officer in his path. In one hand the man had a cane, which he raised as though to strike, but this movement was only intended to hide his real purpose, for in the other hand he held a revolver.

Overpowered by the Police. The attempted assassination there came to an end, for the grand vizier struck the weapon from the man's hand, and at the same time officers caught his arm from behind and overpowered him. A crowd of 500 people who witnessed the attempted assassination made a rush toward the would-be murderer and tried to attack him, but there were many police in the neighborhood and these prevented the mob from doing any violence. At the police station the man expressed regret that he had been unable to carry out his intentions. He said: "This is an affair between me and my conscience. The would-be assassin declines to give his name or nationality. He speaks but little, and that with a southern accent. The police believe him to be an Italian."

Shah Warned by Letter. Just before starting from the palace the shah received a letter dated from Italy, signed with an Italian name, but posted in Paris, announcing to him that he would be assassinated today. The police believe the man who attacked the shah was not alone in his efforts. The whole of the police department is at work seeking for his accomplices.

When the officials tried to interrogate the prisoner he maintained absolute silence. He struggled desperately to avoid a picture being taken, and had to be bound hand and foot and his head held between the knees of the photographer's assistant.

Description of the Prisoner. That will not aid you in your inquiry, a large mustache and blue-gray eyes. He was dressed in a blouse and wide trousers, the usual clothes of a carpenter. In his pocket was found an ugly knife and a handkerchief marked "128th regiment infantry." When this was discovered the man said:

That will not aid you in your inquiry concerning my identity. Later to some officials of the household of the shah who tried to interrogate him the prisoner said:

"Your master will do well to resign; otherwise we will kill him."
"Why did you attempt to assassinate the shah?" the officer asked. "Because," was the reply, "it pleased me. That does not concern you."

LASHES FOR DYING CONVICT.

Thought Man Was Shamming, and Gave Him 138 Lashes.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 3.—Because of the death of George Bankston, a convict, shortly after being whipped severely, the grand jury of Bartow county has indicted A. T. Tomlinson, the whipping boss at the Sugar Hill mining camp, for manslaughter. In the early part of June it is alleged that Bankston became ill, and complained that he was unable to work. Tomlinson, the whipping boss, believing he was playing off, administered ten lashes with a leather strap three inches wide. In the afternoon Bankston again refused to work and got eighteen lashes with the strap. The next morning he still failed to work, and Tomlinson gave him another whipping, this time fifty lashes. When the afternoon came Bankston still asserted that he was unable to work, and he was whipped again, sixty lashes being applied. The next morning Bankston died.

Young Arnold Is Severe.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 2.—Julian B. Arnold, son of Sir Edwin Arnold, who is in the custody of a deputy United States marshal awaiting the result of extradition proceedings, was not surprised to learn that his partner, Thomas Bolton Simey, had been held for trial in London.

He said the fact that only $10,000 bail was asked showed that the action was not serious. He added that his father was not at odds with him, and that the affairs of the firm were being settled. If he is not extradited he proposes to stay here.

Parson Threshed a Mayor. Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 3.—Bowden, a border town in Wells county, has been the scene of much excitement.

The trouble began upon the arrival of the Rev. Mr. Pettenger, who decided that the town should be reformed. He proceeded to explain his views to Mayor Frank Lathrop, who objected to the arguments brought forth. Both men became angry and a rough-and-tumble fight ensued, the parson being victorious.

Chicago Reds Up in Arms.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Chicago anarchists are stirred up over the breaking up of an anarchists' meeting, at which Mrs. Lucy Parsons was a speaker. The meeting was held at Belmont and West North avenues, and the police put the finishing touches to the rout, which has aroused the anarchists against the city authorities. The more outspoken of them denounce what they declare an interference with the rights of free speech and are looking forward to a meeting called for Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Turner Hall, when Mrs. Parsons will deliver one of her characteristic addresses.

Japanese Fishermen Attacked.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 3.—The white union fishermen, according to the reports at Stevenson yesterday, made a combined attack on the Japanese fishermen at the mouth of the river. The Japanese were worsted, and it is reported that one of them was thrown overboard and was not seen again.

Fifty salmon fishing nets of a total approximate value of $5,000 have been destroyed on the Fraser river. The nets were mostly owned by Japanese.

Slavery in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Four Chinese women have been purchased by Chicago Chinamen and are being held as slaves. Two of them are under guard at 323 Clark street, while the others are closely watched at 324 Clark street. The women are said to have been purchased by a local Chinese merchant and were among the number exhibited in the Chinese theater at the Omaha exposition.

Review of Fishermen.

Antwerp, Aug. 3.—An original idea has been proposed at Scheveningen as an attraction for this season. There is to be a review of fishermen. Over 300 have entered their boats. The queen and the queen mother will attend and the ceremony promises to be picturesque and imposing. The date has not as yet been fixed.

RIDES TO DEATH; SAVES 4.

Boy's Fast Ride to Save Poisoned Ones.

THREE LOSE THEIR LIVES.

Boy Hero and Mother and Sister Expire After Eating Toadstools; Father and Three Will Recover—Tragedy at North Harvey.

Harvey, Ill., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Edith Norris, her 14-year-old daughter, and her 13-year-old son are dead, and J. A. Norris, her husband, two daughters and an employee of the family are believed to be recovering after three days in the agonies of poisoning by eating toadstools for mushrooms. Mr. Norris owns a large stock farm in Thornton township, near Harvey. The family ate the poisonous growth gathered by a farm employe for mushrooms.

When the farmer was aroused at midnight by the cries of his family and himself being taken in the grip of the poison, cried for help, there was but one strong enough to attempt to bring it. Thomas Norris, the 13-year-old son, suffering as the others, mounted a horse and rode to Homewood, Delirious and fainting he reached a physician. He sank into unconsciousness after he had told his story, but was revived and taken home, where he died.

The dead: Mrs. Edith Norris, aged 35 years; Miss Maud Norris, aged 14 years; Thomas Norris, aged 13 years. Poisoned but still alive: J. A. Norris, aged 36 years; Miss Eva Norris, aged 17 years; Miss Edith Norris, aged 19 years; Robert Smith, aged 30 years.

Conditions were favorable for the recovery of the four stricken members of the family, it was stated by their physicians last night. They are attended by trained nurses from St. Luke's hospital, Chicago.

Heroic Ride of the Boy.

At midnight Dr. Deys at Homewood, three miles from the Norris home, was aroused by cries and pounding at his door. Going down he found an unconscious boy on the porch before the door. Near by was a horse without saddle and covered with foam and sweat. After many efforts the boy was revived, and he gasped: "Go to our house! They are all dying!" Then he became unconscious again, and while the physician prepared for the midnight ride he revived again long enough to say that his father, mother and sisters were in deadly pain, and that they had eaten mushrooms. Then he succumbed to the pain again. The physician hastened to the farmhouse, and there he found the members of the family writhing on the floor, and through the night he endeavored to relieve their suffering. The heroic boy who had carried the message while he was dying was the first to pass beyond relief. Every effort was made to save him. The lives of four of the victims were saved by his midnight race against death.

GOLD FLOWS FROM KLONDIKE

Believed $24,000,000 of Yellow Metal Will Be Imported This Year.

New York, Aug. 2.—The Herald says that Wall street borrowers are now enjoying an easy money market, and it is believed that they are likely to enjoy it for some time, if the importation of gold from Alaskan fields is any criterion. The banks which bring this gold to the metropolis report an extraordinarily good output.

"We shall certainly bring on more Alaskan gold this year than last," said W. Dawson, New York agent of the Bank of British North America. "The Alaskan output will be that of an extra good year, and should cause a continuance of monetary ease here. We have imported $2,700,000 of Alaskan gold in the last few weeks, and have $500,000 more on the way."

Alexander Laird, New York agent of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, said that about two-thirds of the Alaskan output of $24,000,000 of gold should be expected to reach this city through the institution and the Bank of British North America. "We have already imported $3,500,000 of the Alaskan gold in the last week or so," he said, "and have another million on the way, making $4,500,000 in all."

The amount of gross gold in the treasury at Washington reached $431,170,764 yesterday, the highest amount in the history of the government.

Curve Discharged the Pistol.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 3.—Benson L. Wyatt, a traveling salesman, was the victim of an unusual accident. He was in a compartment of a passenger train. His coat was hanging on a hook near where he was standing. The train suddenly turned on a curve and in doing so the motion threw the coat, which held a pistol, against the side of the car, causing the pistol to fire. The ball passed through Mr. Wyatt's head. Death was instantaneous.

TROUBLE IN PEACE CONFERENCE.

English Delegate Resents Insultations on the Transvaal War.

Paris, Aug. 3.—An unpleasant split in the interparliamentary congress for peace arbitration was narrowly avoided at the session. M. Dorand, speaking of the impotence of The Hague conference, protested against the war in the Transvaal and expressed astonishment that the requests for arbitration made by the South African republics had not found an echo in Europe. Lord Stanhope, one of the English delegates, in reply, said that friends of peace in his country had done everything possible to prevent war, but he said it would be impossible for representatives of England to participate in a discussion implying the least blame of England. The presiding officer turned aside the approaching storm by calling for a vote on the following resolution, which was adopted: "The congress, acting on The Hague resolution, expresses its gratitude to those contributing to the results, in the firm hope that the powers will not neglect in the future to utilize the means at their disposal for the appeasement of international conflicts and its regret that they have not been able to do so. Actual war in the Transvaal calls the attention of the various delegates to the duty devolving upon them to call the attention of their respective governments to the obligations the powers contracted in giving adhesion to The Hague resolutions."

SORES AND ULCERS.

Sores and Ulcers never become chronic unless the blood is in poor condition—is sluggish, weak and unable to throw off the poisons that accumulate in it. The system must be relieved of the unhealthy matter through the sore, and great danger to life would follow should it heal before the blood has been made pure and healthy and all impurities eliminated from the system. S. S. S. begins the cure by first cleansing and invigorating the blood, building up the general health and removing from the system a constant drain upon the system. When this has been accomplished the discharge gradually ceases, and the sore or ulcer heals. It is the tendency of these old indolent sores to grow worse and worse, and eventually to destroy the bones. Local applications, while soothing and to some extent alleviate pain, cannot reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does, and no matter how apparently hopeless your condition, even though your constitution has broken down, it will bring relief when nothing else can. It supplies the rich, pure blood necessary to heal the sore and nourish the debilitated, diseased body.

Mr. J. B. Talbot, Lock Box 245, Winona, Minn., says: "Six years ago my leg from the knee to the foot was one solid sore. Several physicians treated me and I made two trips to Hot Springs, but found no relief. I was induced to try S. S. S., and it made a complete cure. I have been a perfectly well man ever since."

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known—contains no poisonous minerals to ruin the digestion and add to, rather than relieve your sufferings. If your flesh does not heal readily when scratched, bruised or cut, your blood is in bad condition, and any ordinary sore is apt to become chronic.

Send for our free book and write our physicians about your case. We make no charge for this service.

It Has Happened

More than once that a child has been carried off by an eagle. When such a thing does happen the press rings with the story. There's not a line given by the press to the babies carried off daily by disease. It isn't the fact of the child being taken away that is startling or interesting, it's only when the method of taking off is novel that it excites interest. How many children die who might have been saved if the mother who bore them had been able to give them strength and vitality. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes healthy mothers and healthy mothers have healthy children, strong enough to resist disease if they are attacked.

Mrs. Axel Kier, of Gordonville, Cape Girardeau Co., Mo., writes: "When I look at my little boy I feel my duty to write to you. This is my fifth child and the only one who came to maturity; the others having died from lack of nourishment—so the doctor said. This time I just thought I would try your 'Prescription.' I took nine bottles and to my surprise it carried me through and gave me as fine a little boy as ever was. Weighed ten and one-half pounds. He is now five months old, has never been sick a day, and is so strong that everybody who sees him wonders at him."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep the bowels healthy and regular.

BIG YEAR FOR AMERICA.

Total Trade For First Time
Exceeds $2,000,000,000.

ENORMOUS AMOUNT OF EXPORTS.

For 1900 They Reach the Unprecedented Figures of $1,394,186,371.
Imports of $849,714,670—Manufactured Articles Show Largest Growth in Exports—Increased Gold Production.

Advance figures from the forthcoming annual report of the chief of the bureau of statistics, in the treasury department, at Washington, show that the year ended on June 30 last was the most prosperous in the history of the United States. This report will show that the total value of the imports of merchandise into the United States during the year was $849,714,670, while the value of exports reached the enormous and unprecedented total of $1,394,186,371, making the balance of trade in favor of this country amount to $544,471,701.

Four great facts characterize the foreign commerce of the United States in 1900: First, the total commerce of the year surpasses by $510,729,250 that of any preceding year, and for the first time in our history exceeds $2,000,000,000. Second, the exports exceed those of any preceding year and have been more widely distributed throughout the world than ever before. Third, manufacturers' materials were more freely imported than ever before and formed a larger share of the total exports than on any former occasion. Fourth, manufactured articles were more freely exported than ever before and formed a larger share of the total imports than on any former occasion.

In exports every great class of articles showed a larger total than in the preceding year. In imports every class except manufacturers' materials showed a smaller percentage of the total than in the preceding year, while manufacturers' materials showed a much larger total and larger percentage of the grand total than in any former year.

Manufactured articles show the largest growth in our exports. The total exports of manufactures in 1900 amounted to $432,284,366 against $339,675,558 in the preceding year, an increase of $92,608,808, while in no earlier year had the increase amounted to so much as $50,000,000. Manufactures formed 31 1/2 per cent of the total exports in 1900 against 28.13 per cent in 1890, 20.25 per cent in 1885, 15 per cent in 1870 and 12.76 per cent in 1860.

Exports of manufactures in 1890 were $40,345,892 and in 1900 $432,284,366, while the total exports in 1890 were $333,576,057 and in 1900 $1,394,186,371. Thus, while the total exports of 1900 are four times as great as in 1890, those of manufactures alone are ten times as much as in 1890.

That a large proportion of the growing demand for tropical and subtropical products can be supplied by the islands which have recently come into closer relations with the United States is illustrated by the statistics showing the value of the imports into the United States from Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands in each year from 1890 to 1900.

The imports into the United States from these islands were: From Cuba, $31,371,704; from Porto Rico, $3,073,415; from Hawaii, $20,707,403 and from the Philippines, $5,971,298. The fact that the most rapid growth in our imports is in the class of articles produced in these islands—sugar, fibers, coffee, tropical fruits, tobacco, etc., and for which their producing capacity may be rapidly and greatly increased—suggests that a much larger share of our tropical imports may be supplied from this source in the near future.

The fact that the exportations of 1900 exceeded by $217,749,250 those of any preceding year and that this increase, while apparent in every class, is especially marked in manufactures alone, the increase in which amounts to $92,608,808 over 1890, suggests that new markets are being found for American products. A detailed study of our export trade for 1900 shows that this growth is found in every part of the world and especially in those countries to which all the great manufacturing and producing nations are now looking for an increased market.

The phenomenal commercial record of the year has been accompanied by an equally striking record with reference to gold production. The gold mined in the United States during the year ending Dec. 31, 1899, exceeds that of any year in our history, and for the first time surpasses the record established in 1873, when the mines of California made their highest record of $65,000,000. The gold production of the United States was in 1899, according to the estimate of the director of the mint, $72,536,000, while no prior year had shown so high a total as that of 1873, $65,000,000, though the total for 1898 was $64,623,000. The annual average gold production of the United States is now double that of a decade earlier, though in this particular the growth has been no more rapid than in other parts of the world, the world's production in 1899 having been, according to the best estimates, $215,000,000, against $123,000,000 a decade earlier.

The very rapid increase in gold production both in the United States and elsewhere during the last few years brings the total gold product of the half century now ending to the enormous figure of $6,665,631,000, or more than twice as much as during the entire 50 years preceding the half century now closing. The gold production of the world from 1492 to 1850 amounted to but $3,129,720,000, while that of the period 1851-99 was $6,665,631,000.

A Mother Tells How She Saved Her Little Daughter's Life.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do her any good. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended, and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my little daughter much suffering. Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. Burdick, Liberty, R. I. ELOPING LOVERS DROWN.

Tried to Outwit an Obdurate Father. Who Is Now Insane.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Aug. 3.—Two persons dead and a father insane is the result of an attempt to elope made by Miss Martha Hendricks and Paul Varner, a young couple living near Bennett in Ripley county. They had been keeping company some time and were anxious to marry. The father of the girl, John Hendricks, objected to the match on account of the girl's youth, she being only 17 years old. The couple slipped away from home and started for Doniphan, this county, with a view to getting married. The father started in pursuit, and to outwit him the lovers attempted to cross Current river in a boat. When midway in the stream, the boat was overturned by striking a snag, and both were drowned. Their bodies were recovered by some hunters who heard their screams, but were too late to render them assistance. When Hendricks arrived later and learned of the accident he went insane. It is announced that the couple will be buried in the same grave.

Banker Lost in Wonderland.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 3.—J. R. Piper, cashier of the First National bank of St. Mary's, who was in a party going through the National park, is lost in Wonderland. He strayed away on Monday from the rest of the party at Fountain Geyser hotel, and at last accounts no traces of him had been found. A detachment of troops is assisting in the search for the missing man. His friends fear that his mind became unbalanced.

Ham Toast—Cut two cupsful of cold meat into small pieces. Chop one raw potato fine. Place one tablespoonful of butter into a frying pan, and when a light brown, add one tablespoonful of flour. Mix well, and add a cupful of water and stir until it boils and it is perfectly smooth. Add the meat, salt and pepper to taste. Simmer gently ten minutes. Have prepared small squares of bread, butter them and place on a hot platter. Put the ham on the toast, heating it in the middle, and garnish with radishes or parsley.

THE "MYSTERY."

When the lovely "Mystery" had first appeared at the shop, little attention had been given to her. With the acuteness of those who meet hundreds daily in this great establishment, she had been diagnosed as a young woman who had come to choose some simple gift for a comrade in her own walks of life. The clerk who came forward to serve her merely hoped she would not ask to buy an empty jewelry box with the firm name therein. There was a lad of perhaps 14 years accompanying the girl—a lad in ill fitting, but carefully mended clothes.

Walking up to a counter where were displayed the sterling silver goods, she asked to see some articles.

"Do you wish sterling silver or plate goods?" asked the clerk.

The blue eyes looked at him with stern surprise as she said:

"Sterling."

The clerk carefully found a tiny, emaciated cucumber server and laid it on the velvet pad.

Without giving it more than a cursory glance, she asked:

"Have you nothing more attractive than these trifling articles to show?"

The clerk suggested she make a tour of the showcases and see if there was any piece of which she approved. Down the store she walked slowly, so graceful a figure as to attract many approving glances. Pausing before a case, she asked to have shown her a loving cup. With ill concealed amazement, he lifted out the smallest one among the six sizes displayed.

"Twenty-four dollars," said the clerk with icy solemnity.

Glancing at it indifferently, she said:

"Show me the tallest one, please."

It was handed out, and, without a word, the girl took it up, looked it over, held it aloft at arm's length, set it on the showcase, backed away from it, paused with her head on one side; a little wrinkle of anxiety made its mark on her forehead, her lips gathered in a perturbed pucker and said:

"What is the price?"

"Sixty dollars," with unnecessary distinctness.

"You may have it packed. I will take it."

"What address, madam?" asked the flabbergasted attendant.

"This boy will wait and take it when packed."

She coolly produced six $10 bills, paid them away without a glance at the astonished clerk, walked gracefully down the shop and disappeared in the crowded street.

The money was subjected to rigorous inspection by the head bookkeeper and its genuineness vouched for.

That was a year ago last October, and ever since at intervals the "Mystery" has appeared. Her entrance at the shop was always the occasion of significant looks exchanged between the clerks.

One clerk chanced to think that the "Mystery" had not been in for some weeks. "Not since Lent came in," he said, suddenly remembering the fact.

"Why," he cried, "I never thought of it before, but she never has bought an article during Lent—last year or this. She must have been buying wedding gifts all the time."

Only once or twice had the "Mystery" bought jewelry; once at the holiday season she had crowded her way to the counter where were displayed lorgnette chains. There, selecting two of the most beautiful and expensive designs, she took them on approval, paying with large bills the sum of $250, and leaving the shop accompanied by the inevitable boy.

"I'm going to follow her," said one of the interested salesmen.

Follow her he did one day, after she had bought a beautiful toilet set in silver deposit work. He saw the boy leave her and turn into Union square. The girl walked with businesslike alertness until she came to one of the great department stores. Here, in the reception room, she waited until there appeared a middle-aged woman, whose identity was partially disclosed as the suburbanite by the flat, but later to be apoplectic handbag so near to the out of town shopper's heart and pocketbook.

The "Mystery" greeted her warmly.

"Auntie, I'm so glad you've come. I've got just half an hour to take lunch with you."

So, seated at a table in the restaurant of the place, their frugal meal is eaten.

While she eats she says:

"You know, auntie, I told you about buying all Mr. Felsteen's wedding presents for him. Well, I've had more fun this year than ever before. You know he sells pianos and organs and pianolas and other mechanical instruments, besides music, to hundreds of people all over the city and state; there is so much competition in our business that we have to do everything to keep the trade. Almost every week some music teacher or her daughter or sister or some organist or out of town dealer gets married. Well, Mr. Felsteen gets an invitation to every wedding; that means a wedding gift. He is a bachelor, you know, so he asks me to go and select the presents. All I have to do is to buy something large that makes a big show. I've asked him to let me buy some jewelry, but no—it must be a big piece of something."

"Ever since I've been his stenographer I've had women come in our store and put on airs to me, and I've got sick of it. So now, when I go to buy these presents, I put on airs and act just as snippily as I can—just like the swell women do. But I am ready to die laughing if I wasn't playing a part. Mr. Felsteen has a fiancée. I buy her presents, too, for him. I bought her, oh, the sweetest lorgnette chain for a Christmas present, an opal chain! Oh, my!"

The girl emptied the contents of her purse into her lap, found there 23 cents, with which she paid for both luncheons, placed the empty portemonnaie back in her pocket and bade her aunt goodby. As she passed out she said under her breath:

"I've got to walk home tonight. But never mind. Poor auntie is even poorer than I am, though it doesn't seem as if any one could be."—New York Sun.

His Own Interest.

"A perfect gentleman never forgets himself," said the man with a good memory for phrases.

"Then," remarked Senator Sorghum, "I may assume to rank in that distinguished class. Whenever there was anything passing around, no matter what the clamor from constituents and place hunters might be, I never neglected to remember myself."—Washington Star.
